

The Chartis Group Builds on its Strategic Advisory Services by Acquiring iVantage Health Analytics

iVantage Health Analytics provides leading-edge decision support analytics and tools to the healthcare industry

Chicago, IL, November 5, 2015 – The Chartis Group, a national advisory services firm dedicated to the healthcare industry, has acquired iVantage Health Analytics (iVantage), a rapidly growing, innovative health analytics and business intelligence company.

Founded in 2011, iVantage now serves hundreds of hospitals and health systems across the country. The company provides interactive tools for dynamic market intelligence, strategic planning, financial and clinical performance improvement analytics and benchmarking, contracting optimization and knowledge sharing. iVantage pairs public and private data with proprietary analytics and modeling methodologies to provide meaningful, customized and actionable data, knowledge and insights to its clients.

“Bringing iVantage into The Chartis Group furthers our objective of offering unrivaled thought leadership, transformative capabilities and leading analytic decision support tools to healthcare providers. iVantage’s capabilities and tools coupled with our distinctive knowledge of healthcare economics, markets, clinical models and technology will enable both Chartis and iVantage to continue to deliver unequalled results to our respective clients,” says Ken Graboyes, CEO of The Chartis Group.

“Becoming part of The Chartis Group provides iVantage with access to the best thinking in the industry and the investment to support continued development of leading edge analytic tools and decision support products,” adds Araby Thornewill, President of iVantage Health Analytics. “It’s exciting to join an organization that shares our deep dedication to delivering meaningful insights and tools to healthcare leaders.”
